WHY.

Hill-climbing is a strong point in the pneumatic Rambler—Why?—Because of the G. & J. Tire, the corrugated tread of which minimizes road friction—that suction peculiar to smooth surfaced tires—Because of the small front wheel, which lessens the weight to be pushed up grade—Because the G. & J. bearings and tool steel bearing cases run and wear smoothly at all stages of the game—And because the construction of the Rambler sprochet wheel brings both the rear wheel bearings and the crank axle bearings in a direct line, adding to the power and lessening the strain on the wheel.

The report says: The care required to maintain the public parks in good condition has been extended luring the year. The operations have consisted in mowing and raking lawns, repairing gravel walks, pruning trees and shrubs, maintaining pavements and roadways and planting flower beds. In the autumn some of the beds were planted with chrysanthemums for fall blooming and others with early spring flowering bulbs. The grounds north and south of the Executive Mansion were repaired and trees and shrubs planted.

Statements made by officers of the Carnegie Company led some people to believe that when the hour for the resumption of work arrived—and it came at 7 a.m. the hills and yards would be occupied by thousands of non-union men who were falling over each other in their eagerness to fill the places vacated by the Amalgamation men and their sympathizers. But none of these prophecies have been fulfilled and the folks who are outside the tall whitewashed wire-topped fence not unnaturally claim victory.
